AARP® Network of Age-Friendly Communities
Real Possibilities

AARP.org/agefriendly

The stars represent member towns, cities and counties in the AARP Network of Age-Friendly Communities.

The communities listed below, presented in alphabetical order by state and representing more than 61 million people, have joined the AARP Network of Age-Friendly Communities.

Inclusion on this list does not mean that AARP is endorsing any of the following municipalities as a place to live. Nor does it mean that the community listed is currently "age-friendly."

What membership means is that the community's elected leadership has made the commitment to actively work toward making their town, city or county a great place for people of all ages. Membership in the network involves following a multi-step process of improvement. A link to the community's age-friendly action plan has been added to this list if the town or city has reached Step 2 of the improvement process.

If an AARP Community Survey has been completed, or if the community has been featured in an AARP Livable Communities slideshow, interview or "how to" article, those links are provided as well. If you have questions, please write to livable@aarp.org. For easy access to the AARP Network of Age-Friendly Communities Tool Kit, bookmark or visit aarp.org/agefriendly.

The dates below indicate when the community joined the age-friendly network.
