Dear Somerville City Council,

Please find a public version of the results from a 30 day petition circulated by the Center for Arts at the Armory related to the City of Somerville's Armory Master Plan. I have also included a pdf of the petition itself, which was available to the public in English, Spanish, Portuguese and Haitian Creole.

Thank you,

Stephanie

Petition to the City of Somerville Re: the Armory Master Plan

This petition was created and circulated by the Center for Arts at the Armory (CAA). You do not have to live or work in Somerville to sign this petition. The deadline to sign this petition is September 8, 2023. By signing this petition, I urge the City of Somerville to do the following:

1) abandon the proposed Model 1 for the Armory building (City as owner and operator model, which would force current tenants out)

2) adopt a 3rd party operator model for the Armory building that would include developing and issuing an RFP (Request for Proposal) that 3rd party operators interested in managing the building would respond to

3) develop and issue an RFP (Request for Proposal) for prospective arts/culture tenants interested in securing a lease on a space inside the Armory building

4) work with a consultant contracted by the City and current Armory tenants to create a governance model and governance committee that would develop, issue, and respond to both RFPs above

8/10/2023 19:06:45	Charlot Lucien	Foxboro, MA	02035	No	I have booked a space operated by CAA (Performance Hall, Cafe or B5)	The Center for Arts at the Armory has provided opportunities as a venue, as sponsor and as a partner for a variety of cultural events to be offered to audiences in Somerville and beyond (Greater North Shore, Boston, etc.). Its unique brand has attracted members of the Haitian artists community (visual art, music, poetry) in such a ways that international Haitian performers/bands have also found a home and a receptive mixed-audience. Many would have not known about such musical style/variety, had it not been for the CAAA's unique brand and approach. We urge that such considerations be factored in making any strategic changes.
8/10/2023 19:51:47	Jonathan Hondorp	Somerville, MA	02144	Yes	I am an artist or cultural worker who lives in Somerville, I have attended an event hosted or produced by CAA in the Performance Hall or Cafe, I have been to the Somerville Winter Farmers Market	The Armory should fully engage in all types of music, dance, theater, comedy...performances as well as training. Also should grow the number of and promote artist fairs and farmers markets. Keep and improve the cafe. The Armory is an interesting building and should really be helped by all to become a regular destination for folks from Somerville as well as our neighbors from here and there.
8/10/2023 19:57:07	Eddy Toussaint Tontongi			No	I am an artist or cultural worker who lives in Greater Boston	It's a shame that the cultural needs of a community is becoming nowadays an afterthought. Let's continue the struggle for the valorization of the arts in our communities.

8/13/2023 11:39:13	Susan Edwards	Somerville, MA	02143	Yes	I have attended an event hosted or produced by CAA in the Performance Hall or Cafe. I have been to the Somerville Winter Farmers Market	The CAA has been a wonderful neighbor and I enjoy going to events, the Farmer's Market, and the cafe, etc. I'm baffled by why the city would want to change this operation - it's truly a jewel in a city that has become increasingly commercialized and unaffordable. This is the kind of thing that makes long-term residents fret for the future of our city and I don't trust the process or the motivations behind it. Please Somerville, don't screw up something that actually works well.
8/13/2023 16:27:04	Mary Kelley	Somerville, MA	02144	Yes	I have been to the Somerville Winter Farmers Market, I support CAA as a donor, I am a member of the Greater Boston arts community	There are models in New England and nationally that could assist you as you figure this out. CAC needs to be at the table going forward.

8/13/2023 21:02:55	Pamela Goldstein	Boston, MA	02108	Yes	I have attended an event hosted or produced by CAA in the Performance Hall or Cafe. I have been to the Somerville Winter Farmers Market, I work in Somerville	Deeply saddened by this whole situation, including the possibility of losing CAA. The City of Somerville, despite its strengths, is not the right entity to run an arts facility. I hope Somerville will live up to its ideals of inclusion and equity, and engage more forthrightly with the arts and surrounding community, as greater community involvement in the process is severely needed. If the voice of the community is given the weight it deserves, I believe you will hear a resounding echo across the City that if Option 1 is allowed to move forward, it will amount to no less than an irreplaceable loss to Somerville.
8/14/2023 8:59:15	Brad Braufman	Somerville, MA	02144	Yes	I am an artist or cultural worker who lives in Somerville. I am a small business owner who does business at Arts at the Armory, I have attended an event hosted or produced by CAA in the Performance Hall or Cafe. I support CAA as a donor	CAA must be given the opportunity to thrive and continue supporting Somerville. The city's proposed Model 1 seems contrary to that end, and I cannot support it.
8/14/2023 10:35:41	Lori Shapiro	Watertown, MA	02472	No	I am a small business owner who does business at Arts at the Armory, I have been to the Somerville Winter Farmers Market, I support CAA as a donor, I am a member of the Greater Boston arts community	Please continue to let us know whatever we can do to help with this effort. So sorry to hear that this has been proposed.

8/14/2023 17:53:08	Kate Byrne	Somerville, MA	02143	Yes	I have booked a space operated by CAA (Performance Hall, Cafe or B5), I have attended an event hosted or produced by CAA in the Performance Hall or Cafe, I have been to the Somerville Winter Farmers Market, I support CAA as a donor	the city has done a terrible job managing city owned buildings, leading to such things as the soon to be eviction of two vital non-profits, Somerville Media Center (SMC) and Mass Association of Portuguese speakers (MAPS). The city allows buildings to deteriorate. The city should not have this building.
8/14/2023 18:39:33	Bradley Reardon	Somerville, MA	02145	Yes	I have attended an event hosted or produced by CAA in the Performance Hall or Cafe

I can't stress enough that to take a place of this kind of vibrancy, diversity, creativity, civic-mindedness, and community, and turn it into anything less, would be a terrible mistake. I can easily understand that budgets are limited and a place like this can seem (needlessly) complicated and a hassle. That is because the arts are complicated – but necessary. A move to curtail them in this way, in a city like this one, would almost certainly be interpreted as a sign that the city is not in touch with residents' need to build a healthy community. It would be far more complicated to shut down CAA than to strengthen it. That said, if the city does decide to strengthen and invest in the CAA's mission, it would be hailed as a victory for all and would reinforce trust in and gratitude for the city's current new leadership.

Losing the Center for Arts at the Armory and its programming would be a huge loss to the entire community. They have done an outstanding job.
8/15/2023 15:01:09	Alison Pernello	Seattle, WA	98102	Yes	I have attended an event hosted or produced by CAA in the Performance Hall or Cafe, I have been to the Somerville Winter Farmers Market	The Armory has been a special place to many people in my life. I have attended a number of events there growing up in Somerville and have had many friends who have both worked and planned events at the Armory. It has always been a safe place for my friends to showcase their art. It is still for many of them a place to do that. I think the amount of people that this venue has had for non profits is an integral part of the community.

						The Arts at the Armory is an incredibly important, impactful, and unique part of the Somerville community. Somerville's thriving arts and culture programming, supported heavily by the Arts at the Armory, is at the core of what makes this city special. The CAA has been operating successfully out of the Armory for 15 years, and has played a major role in bringing attention to the arts and supporting the diverse communities and individuals that call Somerville home. To overhaul a system and organization that has a history of success in favor of an entirely city controlled arts and culture programming is counterproductive to what I have come to understand as core tenants and values of the Somerville community - collaboration, inclusion, and resourcefulness. The city should instead partner with the CAA and other organizations that have become the bedrock of arts and cultural programming, and work closely with them to expand the scope of arts and culture programming beyond what the CAA had the resources and authority to do previously. I am extremely hopeful that the city will listen to the feedback of the community and collaborate with the CAA to create a plan that will strengthen arts and culture in Somerville, rather than tearing down an established pillar of this community.

They have worked with us for years and given us the opportunity to showcase our students hard work to the Community, I do not think the city has the capacity to run a large complex arts organization of this nature, CAA deserves support as they continue to give us a much needed art venue, They deserve to have someone managing the property efficiently so that the maintenance of the building is not ignored.
8/15/2023 20:03:19	Rachel Hands	Somerville, MA	02145	Yes	I have attended an event hosted or produced by CAA in the Performance Hall or Cafe, I have been to the Somerville Winter Farmers Market, I support CAA as a donor, I work in Somerville, I am a member of the Greater Boston arts community	The programming currently run by the Center for the Arts at the Armory is an essential part of the cultural landscape of Somerville. If the City is considering taking over the operation of the programming in the building as indicated in the CAA's community meeting, it would be crucial to maintain the expertise and focus the CAA team holds today.

I was pleased when the City bought the building. I'm shocked by the fumbling and poor communication by the City that has happened since. I'm also shocked that there is NO funding in the City's 5 yr capital improvement plan/budget. I'm sure the City means to do right by the Armory and Arts at the Armory. Please do the right thing by Arts at the Armory, the other tenants, and the community!

Please allow CAA to continue to run and manage the arts presentations at the Armory. What a loss it would be for the City to interfere in management of this arts facility. Why would the City want to do this when there is an excellent organization already in place who can expertly do this work? Doesn't the City have other important things to focus on?

I'm very concerned about the direction the city seems to be going in with the Armory building and the arts in general (such as the Somerville Media Center). We need to preserve this building for the arts, we need to work with the experts who are already managing and running the arts here, and we must preserve accessible, affordable space for working artists.

I would like to know who is making the final decision as to the final choice of whatever model is being adopted. This meeting held by the CAA tonight demonstrated a lot of community support for their stewardship, so I hope all city entities involved in the Master Plan Process will consider that in choosing a model for adoption. It seems the CAA has done good things to establish and maintain a variety of art and cultural offerings at the Armory, and that they would be willing to put forth an RFP should a 3rd party model be adopted. Their meeting was concise, forthright, professional, and incredibly helpful. The City would do well to truly listen to the voices of the community like so many of those who spoke tonight, and in a spirit of collaboration unite with all parties involved - tenants, community, and municipality. The arts are already in so delicate and tenuous a position, only aggravated by the Pandemic. Disrupting the balance of what has already been achieved here might be a great and regrettable folly.

I have been to the Somerville Winter Farmers Market	I attended the Aug. 15 community meeting at the Armory to learn more about what is happening with the Armory. I have come to understand that the process the City started to determine the future of the facility was well intentioned but very poorly executed. I think the City did the right thing to take the Armory by eminent domain, but seems to be biting off more than it can chew in actually trying to operate it. I think it's pretty clear that the City doesn't have the bandwidth to manage this entity and should let another party do it.

CAA's talented staff provide a diverse array of arts programming that is unmatched in its accessibility, affordability, and inclusivity. It is part of what makes Somerville a great place to live. Model 1 would send a message that the city doesn't recognize or value great arts programming, and would be a huge shame and loss for the community. Please do the right thing.

It meant, a lot to us to get married at an arts center in the Boston area. The people were wonderful and the cost was affordable where most places were not for a music teacher and non profit arts consultant! A few weeks later, we were back at the Armory for a Halloween event. Words cannot express what this space means to us, and how important it is to keep it an affordable and accessible space for artists in the area.

8/16/2023 17:56:32	Ryan Franklin	Boston, MA	02130	No	I have attended an event hosted or produced by CAA in the Performance Hall or Cafe	I believe the Somerville community would be losing an invaluable resource if the City were to assume operation of the Armory building in place of the CAA. I have attended many events organized or hosted by the CAA, and they have offered both intimate access to big artists and a platform for new and eclectic acts whose voices the community would lose out on hearing if the CAA were to be replaced by the city. Both of these things are increasingly rare when it seems everywhere you look in the metro area you'll find beloved community art venues closing only to be replaced by a Santander branch or a weed dispensary. I do not believe that the City has the expertise necessary to provide the community with the same level of quality programming as the CAA given the years worth of existing relationship, contacts, and reputation building the center has already done. The City would either need to spend more staff a new department responsible for programming or accept a lower level of quality. Somerville is privileged to have this and losing it would rob the community of both an important cultural resource and an accessible, affordable source of entertainment.

It shares the talents and skills of many artist near and far and would be a huge misstep to uproot something that is so beloved by the community. As a former Boston resident the management and environment created here is truly unique and should remain as so. Current plans will cause a huge upset to the community and artists helping to keep the community thriving.

This organization has stewarded the armory building and been a mainstay of arts programming in Somerville. For the city to renege on promises made to this community organization is unconscionable. Oftentimes, out-of-state consultants are not the best choice for guiding a city/community through a development process - they don't appreciate the nuances. I hope the city of Somerville will do the right thing and honor this prior commitment. Please abandon proposed model 1 and work with the Center for Arts at the Armory in a collaborative manner to ensure that the arts in Somerville continue to thrive. Finally, I would argue that arts in the city is a core business that had a major impact on putting the city "on the map." It is a mistake to think otherwise.

8/20/2023 9:58:26	Margaret Garret	Somerville, MA	02143	Yes	I am an artist or cultural worker who lives in Somerville	The CAA is incredibly valuable to me and my fellow musicians who perform and record at spaces there such as Dead Moon Audio and the Root Cafe. We must keep this center's current businesses in the building as they offer artists of all kinds a place to work and thrive. There is too much gentrification happening in the Boston / Somerville area that squeezes out the truly diverse, vibrant, creative voices in our community. Please honor and protect the rights of the current tenants to continue existing at CAA.
8/20/2023 10:04:54	Greg Nadeau	Somerville, MA	02144	Yes	I work in Somerville	From my experience, the Arts at the Armory organization has demonstrated explicit disdain for our young people and should be replaced by true local, culturally sensitive, community groups. I have made this point clear at every forum.

When I drive an hour to go to events there or stop by the Winter Farmers Market before class, I'm spending money in Somerville that I wouldn't otherwise, especially on food at local businesses. That said, the space's current model is producing so many cool events that these days I can't make it to everything I'm interested in (which is an excellent problem to have!). I urge you to consider keeping the current management structure and the current tenants, who make Somerville a richer place both artistically and financially.

I have attended an event hosted or produced by CAA in the Performance Hall or Cafe, I have been to the Somerville Winter Farmers Market	We are losing arts from our lives!!! All city and state politicians do a lot for realtors and big business but nothing for artists and art in general. Yes, we humans need money and places to live, but, to be human, we also need arts and artists. Somerville should take pride in supporting arts and those who create it. The Armory is a beautiful place, unique in the Great Boston area, and the City should do everything in its power to make sure the Armory exists and continues providing beauty to the region.

It was a free after-school and summer Arts program funded by the Boston Foundation. I have also exhibited my art in the cafe and as a poet, have attended and had the opportunity to read my poetry at the First and Last Word readings, which takes place once a month in the Cafe. Arts at the Armory best serves the local community and the community at large through such initiatives, and should continue as it has, offering multi diverse opportunities and events in the arts and cultural enrichment.

8/22/2023 13:48:58	Anonymous	Somerville, MA	02145	Yes	I have attended an event hosted or produced by CAA in the Performance Hall or Cafe, I work in Somerville	The City of Somerville is not properly equipped to be a landlord of any kind, which includes management of the Armory. The government charges rent yet refuses to provide meaningful preventative maintenance of any kind. In turn, buildings are left to deteriorate until they're uninhabitable. We see this neglect time and time again with affordable housing projects, schools, and administrative buildings across the country. The City of Somerville should never have taken the Armory parcel by eminent domain. The City should not own any land unless it is offering the space free of charge to members of the community, such as with parks and school buildings.

THE ARMORY IS JUST SUCH A FOUNDATION FOR SPRING HILL AND SOMERVILLE AND BEYOND. A GREAT DEAL OF EXPERIENCE, TIME, TRUST AND CARE GOES INTO PLANNING AND CARRYING OUT SUCCESSFUL EVENTS. THEY CANNOT BE DONE HALF-HEARTEDLY OR WITH LITTLE EXPERIENCE - ESPECIALLY IF NEIGHBORS AND VISITORS AND ARTISTS ARE ALL TO BE KEPT HAPPY, ENGAGED AND WILLING TO COME BACK. THE CITY BOASTS SUCH SPACES AND A COMMITMENT TO THE ARTS. NOW IT NEEDS TO ALLOW THE ARMORY SPACE TO FLOURISH (POST-PANDEMIC) AND GROW WITH THE CITY'S IDENTITY. THE STAFF AT CAA ARE BEST SUITED TO HELP WITH THAT MISSION AND ROLE.

Gentrification is pushing them all away which is why I think the Armory should prioritize artists and their needs. As a business owner in Somerville it pains to see all our progress start to implode as the City bows to developers who only seek to destroy while making a buck. The charm of Somerville is fading, if we don't fight to preserve what makes it so special to us, then we don't deserve it. Let's protect our local artists. The Armory is a good first step.

8/22/2023 15:26:16	Sarah Stefaniak	Brighton, MA	02135	No	I have attended an event hosted or produced by CAA in the Performance Hall or Cafe, I have been to the Somerville Winter Farmers Market	As a graduate student studying architecture and having had the opportunity to work on projects within the city of Boston in response to arts/culture, it is vital that the Armory Master plan proposed model 1 be abandoned. Boston was built on the communities of people coming together and the armory building is a prime example of that. Not only do the people of Somerville, but others located within the Boston area rely on this location for their sense and purpose within the community. As we have seen throughout the U.S. arts and the creative have been immensely cut from school budgets and this space is an active part of keeping this alive. This is a place where people from all backgrounds can come together and learn from each in their community. I am signing this petition as someone who has been able to interact within this community from visiting the CSA farmers market to someone who has attended events to support the arts. We need this building to remain an interactive space for the community of Boston. Please don't allow model 1 to go through. Thank you.

Creative spaces should be run by those who are truly engaged in their success. On the other hand, the CAA will need support for building maintenance and utility costs - things that the City can and should provide.

8/23/2023 10:58:38	Ann E Camara	Somerville, MA	02143	Yes	I am an artist or cultural worker who lives in Somerville, I have attended an event hosted or produced by CAA in the Performance Hall or Cafe	The Armory means a great deal to all of us multigenerationally in Somerville for many years and we care what is happening and how it happens. I personally do not connect with the processes that go on in Somerville lately, from Somerville Media Center to BrickBottom to now The Armory. If the process is about renovation, then fix it, if it's about adding new Fab Labs, then add them, but make sure 100% that those people and events who are there now remain at the same price/rent and same allotted space and time. Glad to see Somerville finally renovating their buildings. I've been here 47 years with y sons going to school and asbestos coming out of walls and much more. Calling, writing never helped. Now it seems Somerville wants to renovate and bring in new companies and push out the old companies and corporations who stay thru the asbestos, stayed thru the flooding basements, stayed they the lack of renovation, This is not the way a grateful city would or should be. Please keep all people and events that are at The Armory now, we love and respect the work they do and will continue to join in. If I'm missing anything I'm sure the brilliant people of Somerville and beyond will pitch in. Ann E. Camara, Camara is in the word Camaraderie

I have attended an event hosted or produced by CAA in the Performance Hall or Cafe	I work for an organization that has promoted several concerts at the Armory, hosting artists from all around the world and selling out concerts from people coming from all around the somerville and greater boston area. The folks who run Arts at the Armory are top notch individuals. Having worked in live music and events for the past 15+ years, I know that it takes someone highly qualified and uniquely skilled to run a space like this - and the folks who run this space are exactly those people. The building is in very good hands as a space for arts, events, and the community, and if the city of Somerville cares about any of these things, they should do everything they can to keep the Arts at the Armory folks at the helm of this space.

It is an excellent place to rehearse and affordable. I have been attending events at the Armory for years. It is a part of my everyday life. I have heard that after one year of waiting for the results from a city hired consultant that the only two options offered to the people of Somerville were to evict everyone in the building or to raise the rents. Either way the Armory would be changed in a way that is not acceptable. Why not hire local consultants who understand our community? Why not give the people of Somerville better choices to work with? City hall's efforts are just not acceptable. We can do better, and we will.

I've also attended numerous concerts, story slams, and markets at the armory. We also rent instruments from one of the tenants and buy treats at the cafe. The armory is our neighborhood landmark, and Arts at the Armory does an incredible job programming it. They should continue to be a large part of the programming landscape of this wonderful space going forward.

Jean Appolon Expressions (JAE) is a contemporary dance company deeply rooted in Haitian-folkloric culture that celebrates, nurtures, and empowers a global community. We accomplish this through professional performances, teaching, and fostering healing and the joy of movement in people of all ages, abilities, and backgrounds to contribute to a socially just world. Our community is full of Haitian and BIPOC community members, many who are immigrants, that live and work in the Greater Boston area. The Arts at the Armory has been a welcoming and accessible and affordable place for JAE to hold community dance programming and events and we truly hope this can continue in the future.

Elliot	Somerville, MA	02143	Yes	I have attended an event hosted or produced by CAA in the Performance Hall or Cafe, I have been to the Somerville Winter Farmers Market, I work in Somerville	I don't fully understand the options or why they were limited to essentially only two options, but the city needs to be doing everything it can to ensure that the Armory stays a community space for the arts, the farmer's market, performances, exhibits, and all the other vital community functions that it currently provides. In a city of renters that allows predatory landlords to make it extremely difficult to stay in one home or neighborhood for more than a year, keeping community spaces like this open and functioning is the least the city can do to foster SOME sense of community, neighborliness, and civic engagement. People want to live in Somerville because of things like Arts at the Armory.

I believe that the City should support independent, experienced, highly competent, arts organizations in the city - like the CAA. The CAA is an essential pillar to the city and offers accessible, affordable, and rich programming for all - and I believe and hope that these are the city's values as well, making the performing arts and other programming open for all.

I moved to Watertown, but was so happy to see it become a Center for the Arts. I attended music shows in the Cafe, and I recorded music in the basement Studio, Armory Sound. I hope that Somerville can continue to provide a space there for the many Arts Groups that found a home there. It would be a shame if this changes and I hope you find a way to protect it. Sincerely, Mary Koomjian (Watertown MA resident who lived in Somerville many years, and my Mother was born in Somerville in 1919!).

This is a sure way to kill this institution and the community that has been carefully built since 2008. It is reckless to take the approach the city is proposing, and would be better to partner with consultants who understand the needs of a community arts organization to find a solution that supports the current community while ensuring its survival.

There's no reason to kick out existing tenants. If the current owner is letting the building degrade, sure, eminent domain it. But even in that case, maintain current tenants within reasonable market rent rates, and use additional space for community events. But as a Somerville resident, it pisses me off that the Armory might change in a negative way while also kicking out existing tenants.

Also - we have some long-term businesses that have been anchors in the Armory - scaring them away would be detrimental to everyone. These businesses may not technically be non-profits, but they certainly aren't raking in "for-profit" revenues!

However, it's been harder and harder for artists to remain in Somerville due to a variety of factors, affordable housing and studio space chief among them. Please consider supporting the artists that make your city great.
9/7/2023 13:30:38	Daniel Sedgwick	Somerville, MA	02145	Yes	I am an artist or cultural worker who lives in Somerville. I have attended an event hosted or produced by CAA in the Performance Hall or Cafe, I have been to the Somerville Winter Farmers Market, I work in Somerville
9/7/2023 13:32:26	JB Segal	Somerville, MA	02144	Yes	I have attended an event hosted or produced by CAA in the Performance Hall or Cafe, I have been to the Somerville Winter Farmers Market	Adding management of this (valuable!) community resource to the city government's plate when there's been a functional organization managing it already for nearly 20 years seems ridiculous, esp. given how poorly everything related to the transfer of ownership to the city went down.

While there certainly could be some improvements, the drastic changes being considered by the City would break a thriving community, and it could take some time for a new community to establish roots. The Armory, in its current configuration, is one of the reasons that I'm happy to live in Somerville. Thanks for listening!

In fact, before the Arts community began work at the Armory, as far as I can tell, it was unused and vacant. Nothing interesting was happening there. The dedication and hard work of its current occupants has made the Armory what it is today, and it is obvious that the City of Somerville and/or other unnamed or unknown developers want to access its success. Taking this property by eminent domain without compensation to its current occupants is just plain disgusting.

						I have had the pleasure of attending many life-enriching events at Arts at the Armory (both at the Rooted Café and the performance hall) including music, theatre, dance, comedy, multimedia, literary and interdisciplinary arts performances that created immersive experiences sparking joy, inspiration, reflection, and intercultural learning. Over the recent years (after the pandemic) I've had the opportunity to have such a diverse range of art experiences including iLe (from Puerto Rico), Lakou Misik (from Haiti), John Scofield (jazz legend), Bitch, Sweet Honey in the Rock, Wesli (Haiti), Acoustic Nomads, Laura Sanchez (flamenco), Bread and Puppets, and many others. The work that Arts at the Armory does to make such a diversity of art experiences available to the Somerville community and the greater Boston community is truly remarkable and a treasure that should be fully supported by the City of Somerville and the community at large. I have attended the last community meeting regarding the "Armory Master Plan" organized by the City of Somerville and the community meeting organized by Arts at the Armory, and I witnessed at both community meeting a complete rejection by the community of the idea of the City of Somerville's proposed Model 1 for the Armory building (City as owner and operator model, which would force current tenants out, including Arts at the Armory). Model 1 would destroy all the amazing work done by Arts at the Armory that I describe above as the City of Somerville does not have the capacity, does not have the experience, and does not have the mandate to do the work that Arts at the Armory currently does (work that not only includes music, dance, poetry, theater, and a monthly rotating art gallery at the rooted café, but also the Somerville Winter Farmers Market, Circus performances, blood drives, NPR's the Moth, Queer Tango, weekly jazz at the rooted café, just to mention a few. I have attended an event hosted or produced by CAA in the Performance Hall or Cafe. I have been to the Somerville Winter Farmers Market. I support CAA as a donor, I work or volunteer for CAA I am certain that Model 1 would mean the end of all that Arts at the Armory has created and built over the years, resulting in a great loss for the Somerville community.

9/8/2023 20:02:20	Rebecca Marchand	Somerville, MA	02143	Yes	I have attended an event hosted or produced by CAA in the Performance Hall or Cafe, I have been to the Somerville Winter Farmers Market, I am a member of the Greater Boston arts community	Keeping the Armory as a community-oriented arts space is essential—there is no other venue like it, especially since the old post office in union square was never given the chance. The best way to have the community aspect maintain integrity is to keep it IN the community—not just another city-acquired space.

9/8/2023 20:44:49	Tomas O'Leary	Cambridge, MA	02138	No	I am an artist or cultural worker who lives in Greater Boston, I have booked a space operated by CAA (Performance Hall, Cafe or B5), I have attended an event hosted or produced by CAA in the Performance Hall or Cafe, I am a member of the Greater Boston arts community	I was born & lived for many years in Somerville—have attended & participated in numerous poetry & arts events in Cafe at the Armory, & on several occasions have rented the Cafe to host social events. I believe that to eviscerate the Arts aspect of the Armory would be to evict its soul.
9/8/2023 22:29:34	Judith R. Shaw	Cambridge, MA	02139	No	I am a member of the Greater Boston arts community	I live in Cambridge and have attended a couple of events at this venue. I am planning to attend another in November. I think it is important too have this place for artistic expression of all sorts.
