Subject: Brick sidewalks & construction costs

Hello. I was very sad, walking through Davis square today, to see all the brick being ripped up and replaced with concrete. I was wondering why this was thought to be needed? In terms of keeping a beautiful feel to the square and surrounds, this seems like such a loss. I imagine it is about accessibility, but it seems like well maintained brick is not hard to roll over or traverse, so then I got stuck as to why this was happening.

I wanted to lodge my sadness, in hopes that the ripping up of brick does not spread beyond its current scope.

Sincerely,
Luke Miratrix
