- That the Director of Public Space and Urban Forestry provide this Council's Committee on Equity, Gender, Seniors, Families and Vulnerable Populations with an update on the inclusive playground swing project being worked on in collaboration with parent advocates.
- Director Oliveria relayed the recent updates on the process for getting inclusive playground swings installed. In July she appeared before the Somerville Commission for Persons with Disabilities (SCPD) explaining the many factors that are involved, Public Space Planner Meg Koglin has been taking inventory on the existing bucket swings, hardware, and fall zones that currently exists in the parks. The next steps are to research universal connectivity, and it can take up to 4 weeks to go through procurement, 6-8 weeks to receive the swings, and then installment, the department has hopes to have the inclusive swings installed by winter. Chair Strezo sponsored community member Nicole Cannon to speak. Nicole shared how she has a 4-year-old disabled daughter and the huge positive impact having the inclusive swings have had on her family. She also included how important it is to educate the public on these inclusive swings and to bring awareness to the community. Councilor Clingan then asked Director Oliveria how the decision is being made to roll out ten swings at the start and not every park, and whether this is a final decision or if the city is able to accept swings as a gift. Director Oliveira stated that they are still in the pilot process, evaluation is still needed on pricing of swings, any gifts or donations need to be done through communication with law. She commented on the many ways the city and the SCPD can work together in the future to build inclusivity in the city and all councilors agreed some sort of celebration should take place once the pilot swings are installed.

By Councilor Pineda Neufeld, Councilor Burnley Jr., Councilor Davis, Councilor Ewen-Campen, Councilor Mbah, Councilor McLaughlin, Councilor Sait, Councilor Scott, Councilor Strezo and Councilor Wilson That the Director of Health and Human Services discuss with this Council how to serve residents through an ongoing transit equity program when the Taxi to Health program funding ends in October.

Lisa Robinson, Director of Food Access and Healthy Communities highlighted the continued efforts that remain in place to try and continue to serve as many residents as possible after the sunseting of this program on October 31, 2024. She highlighted multiple avenues that have been looked at including but not limited to partnering with Metro Area Planning Committee, shuttle bus services, securing more funding through grants, and convening a group of staff to continue to research and explore more sustainable options. Kelley Hiland, Deputy Director of Public Health, and Ashley Speliotis, Director of Council on Aging (COA), both spoke to similar efforts being done in their departments to work to find a solution within the financial constraints of the municipality. Councilor Pineda Neufeld restated the urgency she feels towards finding a solution for the cities residents and asked what type of communication is going out to let the participants of this program know it will no longer be available. Director Robinsons shared the expiration is written on every voucher that is being handed out and information including resources for other services is being shared. Director Speliotis shared there has been a spike in the member registration through the COA office for residents who are eligible to utilize that programming. Councilor Clingan asked what the gap in services is needed and if there has been any discussion to how Boston runs their programming. Director Robinson shared during the Taxi to Health closure they are gaining data on what gaps exist and what modes people will need to return to, as well as the department has tried to reach out to Boston with no success to gain information on how they fund their own voucher program.

That the Director of Racial and Social Justice update this Council on policy proposals from the Anti-Violence Working Group convened last year.

Director of Racial and Social Justice Amanda Nagim-Williams spoke on the attached memo that provided updates on the work that has been done to date and continued plans. Councilor Pineda Neufeld asked considering the violence that has ensued at the library if this working group has been a part of any of the conversations to find a solution. Director Nagim-Williams clarified that the working groups focus was not on the library incident during their meetings in the past, but the members are prepared to answer any questions that are directed towards them. Councilor Clingan asked to follow up questions around what types of programming can be exapted to come out of this working group and if there are any short-term interventions in place. Councilor Strezo highlighted the importance of any interventions including teen girls in violence. Director Nagim-Williams responded the three key working areas are on digestive violence, traffic violence, and gun and gang violence, all of which were areas that came out of the Public Safety For All Initiative. Within that there is focus on highlighting how young people experience violence in all those areas and the working groups focus is mainly on mapping out long-term solutions and educating and helping residents understand what resources are available to them.
