- 4.3. Communication (ID # 22-1795) By Councilor Strezo
Conveying a report on the Children's Cabinet meeting on Tuesday, October 11, 2022.
- Councilor Strezo reported that some long-awaited work is coming to fruition. Teen centers will be opening on November 1st at the Edgerly School for youth aged 12 through 18 and will include several activities. She thanked members of the community for their support in advocating for this center. She also stated that the Powder House building at Powderhouse Square will be opened as a LGBTQ safe haven and will offer events, movies and road trips. An $897,000 award was given to Somerville for early childhood education. Councilor Burnley asked if the Children's Cabinet has interfaced with the Department of Racial and Social Justice. Councilor Strezo replied that equity is a constant conversation and she directed Councilor Burnley to SomerPromise for an answer to his question. She said that the goal of the Children's Cabinet is to make the lives of children in the city better. Director Sahni reported that the administration's efforts to keep teens involved is a continuation of a process started during the summer.

5. UNFINISHED BUSINESS

- 5.1. Order
(ID # 22-1765)
- By Councilor Scott
That Outside Counsel Timothy Zessin update this Council on the 10/6/22 Civil Service Commission decision Kiely, Michael v. City of Somerville, and the impact on the confirmations process.

Councilor Scott sponsored outside Counsel Timothy Zessin to speak on this matter. Attorney Zessin stated that this case was discussed at length in committee, with the committee recommending against promoting Mr. Kiely. He said that the Civil Service Commission noted that the City Council should have some roll on these decisions. His takeaway is that the City Council would be held to the same requirements as the appointing authority, i.e., the Mayor. Councilor Ewen-Campen asked for verification that when an appointment is denied, the City Council should produce a letter explaining the reasons for the bypass. Councilor Davis asked why the committee was able to see information in one case (the Kiley Case, but not the other (the Fairchild case). Attorney Zessin commented that he did not have an answer to the question. Councilor Scott asked about the procedure of the promotion process on pages 25 and 26 and asked if the onus for providing a bypass letter is on the Mayor. Attorney Zessin doesn't think that the Civil Service Commission really cares who writes the letter, since it may be appropriate in some cases for the letter to come from the City Council.

- 9.13. Public Communication (ID # 22-1777) 63 registered voters submitting comments regarding bicycle and bus lanes.
- Councilor Pineda Neufeld sponsored resident Kim Rego to speak on this item. Ms. Rego addressed the Council and spoke about the changing demographic and changes to the city. Ms. Rego commented that there is a perception that decisions are being made from the top down without solving an identified nor fulfilling a majority want. Traffic changes have been advancing at a rapid pace and it seems that the community has not been involved, i.e., public meetings feel like presentations where citizens can hear what has already been decided. She commented that bike lanes have been added without offering sufficient safety for bike riders, vehicle operators and pedestrians, and noted the chronic elimination of parking for insufficient alterations that underserve everyone is a disservice to the city's small businesses, as well. Ms. Rego said that the city needs to slow down this process and consider how best to create optimal usage for everyone. Councilor Burnley stated that the patchwork of bike lanes in the city are unsafe. He said the city has been working on a comprehensive bike plan and he would like to see increased transparency and accessibility. He noted that many businesses need larger loading zones. He commented that everyone's needs should be met and that everyone should be able to move about the city in a safe manner. Councilor Gomez Mouakad spoke about a Curbside Study for decision making. Councilor Pineda Neufeld commented that much of the requested data is available but has not been shared via the city's website.
